Meanings

a male given name

Etymology

From the compound stem auda-* of audaz* + *-munduz, a masculine u-stem personal name element beside mundō* (de Vries 1977: 395, s.v. munḍr; Nedoma 2004: 231–33). The u-stem formation is directly supported by Proto-Norse <𐌰𐌶𐌿𐍄𐌺𐌳𐌹𐍃> (kunimundiu) on the Tjurkö bracteate (de Vries 1977: 334, s.v. kunimundiu). Compare Old Norse Auðmundr and Old English Eādmund. The compound may originally have conveyed approximately ‘protector of wealth’, although dithematic Germanic personal names need not retain a transparent compositional meaning (Nedoma 2018: 1586).
