

bruta¹ Runic: brutjo Pronunciation: /'bru.tã/
noun · neuter · a-stem

Meanings

1. that which is broken off (e.g. piece, fragment, etc.)
2. that which breaks forth (e.g. sprout, bud, etc.)

Etymology

From Proto-Indo-European *b^hru-d-o-m, a zero-grade noun from root *b^hrewd- ('to bud'), which (Pokorny 1959) treats as a d-extension of *b^hrew- ('destroy, break'). Compare the s-extension *b^hrews- ('to break'). Related to *breutana ('to destroy, crush, break (open), bud').
