Meanings

to fog, smoke

Etymology

From Proto-Indo-European *d^hémb^h-e/o-, from *d^hemb^h- ('to fog'), which appears to be a *b^h-extension of *d^hemH- ('to smoke, blow'). Cognates are Sanskrit धम् (dham) (dham, 'to blow into'), Lithuanian dùmti ('to blow'), and Proto-Slavic dq̃ti ('to blow'). A variant is *dimpana.
