

glītana Runic:  Pronunciation: /'yli:.ta.nã/

verb · Strong class 1

Meanings

to shine, sparkle

Etymology

From Pre-Germanic *ǵ^hleyd-, possibly an extension of *ǵ^hley- as seen in *glīwā ('joy'). Kroonen considers it likely the strong verb was back-formed from the iterative *glittōna ('to shine').

Conjugation

Present active

Person	Indicative	Subjunctive	Imperative
1st singular	glītō	glītaų	–
2nd singular	glītizi	glītaiz	glīt
3rd singular	glītidi	glītai	glītadau
1st dual	glītōz	glītaiw	–
2nd dual	glītadiz	glītaidiz	glītadiz
1st plural	glītamaz	glītaim	–
2nd plural	glītīd	glītaid	glītīd
3rd plural	glītandi	glītain	glītandau

Present passive

Person	Indicative	Subjunctive
1st singular	glītai	—
2nd singular	glītaizai	glītaizau
3rd singular	glītadai	glītaidau
1st dual	—	—
2nd dual	—	—
1st plural	glītandai	glītaindau
2nd plural	glītandai	glītaindau
3rd plural	glītandai	glītaindau

Past

Person	Indicative	Subjunctive
1st singular	glait	glitī
2nd singular	glaiſt	glitīz
3rd singular	glait	glitī
1st dual	glitū	glitīw
2nd dual	glitudiz	glitīdiz
1st plural	glitum	glitīm
2nd plural	glitud	glitīd
3rd plural	glitun	glitīn

Non-finite Forms

Infinitive	Present Participle	Past Participle
glītaŋ	glītandz	glitanaz

Descendants

glītan (Proto-West Germanic)

| glītan (Old Saxon)

glītan (Proto-West Germanic)

| glīzan (Old High German)

| gleißen (German)

View on Wiktionary