

haiṑinaz¹ Runic: ᚻᚢᚱᚢᚾᚢᚰᚢᚰᚢᚰᚢᚰᚢᚰᚢᚰᚢᚰ Pronunciation: /ˈxaj.θi.naz/noun · masculine · a-stem

Meanings

"a person from uncultivated land"; one of the Chaedini, a Germanic people of western Scandinavia mentioned by Ptolemy in his Geographia

Etymology

From *haiṑi ('heath; untilled land') + *-īnaz ('made of; having the characteristics of'). Originally presumed to be of Christian origin, however the word is attested by Ptolemy long before Christianity had spread among the Germanic peoples.
