

makô Runic: 𐰇𐰆 𐰋𐰏 Pronunciation: /'ma.kɔː/

noun · masculine · an-stem

Meanings

an equal; comrade; mate; match

Etymology

An old n-stem as evidenced by the Kluge's law variant *makkô, perhaps from Proto-Indo-European *móg-ō, from *meg-, *mog- ('to knead, work') (alternatively *mag-, *meh₂ǵ-, *meh₂ǵ-; various sets of cognates and meanings suggested). In any case from the same root as *makaz ('fitting, suitable, convenient, comfortable'); see there for the root reconstruction.
